FIRE AT MARFA.
A Store and Printing Office Building Were Burned.

Special Telegram to the Herald.
MARFA, July 16.—A fire broke out this morning about 4 o'clock in the frame store house of E. G. Gleim & Co., and resulted in the total destruction of the building and stock of goods, also the small frame building next to it was destroyed, but the printing material of the Presidio County Guard was almost wholly saved. The Guard office building belonged to Judge Kilpatrick, while the Guard belonged to Carroll Farmer; the store building belonged to J. F. Waddell from whom E. G. Gleim & Co., had it leased. The stock of goods were insured, but neither of the buildings carried insurance.

Creditably Done.
Miss Myrtle Canady and her mother chanced on a Lake Michigan steamer the other day, and the Salisbury orchestra of a dozen men were furnishing the music for the trip. Miss Canady was introduced to Leader Salisbury, and a few moments conversation with her so convinced him of her abilities that he invited her to lead his orchestra through one number. The young violinist without the least hesitation took Mr. Salisbury's violin and mounting the stand led the orchestra through the selection with not merely a vigor but a finish and interpretation that was high commendation from every body on the boat who listened to the performance.

It is pleasing to learn that Miss Canady is becoming more and more interested in her work, and there is no reason why she should not become a successful and a finished artist. Her playing is already attracting attention in Chicago, and the high order of associations to which she has entered are calculated to bring out and develop the very best there is in her. Mrs. Canady and daughter will be back in El Paso by another summer for an extended visit, as this will continue to be their home.

Water has been turned on in the Great Yaqui canal designed to irrigate lands in the valley of the Yaqui river. This great enterprise promises much for Northern Mexico.

RAISING 'EM SKY HIGH.

The County Board of Equalization Raising the Valuations.

Nine hundred postal cards were sent out yesterday afternoon from the county clerk's office to as many county taxpayers notifying them that the board of equalization had raised their properties from the valuations given last year to such and such figures for the present year. And won't there be a howl, gentle reader from Dan to Bersheba and back again to Baldwinville? "Oh, mamma!"

The board made a general raise of about 25 per cent, and in special cases the raise was 300 per cent, and over. His honor the mayor had a crick in the back when he read his postal card, and he hasn't recovered from the shock yet. It seems that his honor has been in the habit of rendering his valuations by the acre, while his neighbors have been returning their valuations by the city lot. So the board thought what was sauce for the goose should be sauce also for the gander, and this trip the board set the valuation of the mayor's city property according to city lot measurements. The increase, as shown by the table is calculated to make any one stare. The raise in the case of the Snelling company and the G. H. and T. and P. railroads will touch the public as something noticeable, and it will also touch the parties arrested as something more than noticeable.

The Chinese store keepers have been wanting to return their valuations at $500 per each store. The board has promptly raised the same to figures varying from $2000 to $6000. This will scare the real estate companies, especially the Campbell Real Estate company, have caught it where the metaphorical chicken caught the metaphorical steel, and they will think that financial loss has been incurred and to them it may seem if not carload lots. And old man Myer will arise in his wrath and wipe a large fraction of the stars from the firmament. But then, the sufferers of this onslaught will have an opportunity to arise and explain Monday morning, July 20, when the august board of equalization, that is to say, the El Paso county commissioners, with their equalization robes on, will sit in the court house to listen to the music of the bow more or less excited voices of indignant taxpayers or their representatives, as objection after objection is launched forth in all the keys known to the musical scale, and making a grand jubilee chorus. If the members of the honorable board have any appetite left for dinner after passing through the tempest they ought to "go down in history" as marvelous examples of their kind.

It is whispered about the court house, that now that the recent county election carried the proposition to raise the extra 15 per cent road and bridge tax, the board may without really violating the law be induced to knock off on the very large raises in valuations. But then nobody knows this. The commissioners hope with the real action of the increased in road and bridge tax to put the county on a cash paying basis and do away with the use of scrip. Their motives are those of the loftiest patriotism; only the trouble is that many receipt notes of these 900 postal cards will not look at it in that exacting light.

The following tabulated statement gives the names of those whose valuations have been noticeably increased, the first line of figures being the 1896 valuation and the second line being those of the present 1897 valuation:

OPERATORS ALARMED.

They Are Talking Seriously of Compromising.

HANNA TAKES A HAND.

The Operators Don't Want Debs to Visit West Virginia and Threaten Injunction if he Does—Senator Hanna for Peace.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Senator Hanna may be the means of settling the strike. He did lots of telegraphing today between miners and operator leaders at Pittsburgh, which resulted in his sending a dispatch urging the Cleveland operators to join in a movement for a settlement, and this to his own firm: "M. A. Hanna & Co., Cleveland.—See other coal operators and urge them to join in the movement for an amicable settlement of the coal strike at Pittsburgh. M. A. Hanna."

CHICAGO, July 16.—W. P. Rend has suggested an entirely new plan for the settlement of the big coal miners' strike by arbitration. He wants it left in the hands of any three of the United States court judges, and these to be selected by the miners officials alone, or by the miners and operators jointly. "The one man," he says, opposing this plan is DeArmitt. I challenge DeArmitt to accept the plan without conditions. My interests are larger than his and if he is honest and wishes to end the strike as he would have the public believe, let him accept. The men are entitled to work at living wages. When a laborer is paid less, neither argument nor philosophy reconciles him to his lot. He has the right to rebel."

CHICAGO, July 16.—Eugene V. Debs may not be permitted to go into West Virginia to urge the miners to join the strike. Private advices received in Chicago today by a big operator state that arrangements are being made to secure an injunction against the leader of Social Democracy restraining him from trespassing on the grounds of the various companies in that state. Leading operators there say they will see the laws enforced to the letter against every labor agitator that tries to take a voice in the case of the strikers.

Where Soldier's Bones Rest.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—The attention of the British consul has been called to the fact that the extension of a street in the northern part of the city which is in progress by the street department will cause to be exposed a vault containing the skeletons of a large number of British soldiers who died in the hospital attached to Lord Cornwallis' headquarters, and which in 1776 and 1777 were located on the estate soon to be cut through as the result of the march of progress in this city of homes. The vault has never been opened, but from dusty old records it is believed that the majority of the officers were buried in their uniforms with their swords and other trappings of war, and that various papers of identification and manuscripts relating to the events at that period were buried with them. Official representation on the subject will be made to the English government and it is probable that an allowance will be made from the contingent fund for the purchase of a lot in the local cemetery and the reinterment for all time of all that is mortal of the gallant but defeated Britishers.

The Baptists.

CHATTANOOGA, July 16.—Never has Chattanooga resounded with pews of praise as it did at six o'clock this morning when the delegates and visitors to the seventh international convention of Baptist young people assembled in six Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches of jubilation, prayer and testimony. But the crowning meeting was held on the summit of Lookout Mountain, where, as the sun rose, several thousand voices were lifted up and the strains of the grand Coronation hymn, "All hail the power of Jesus' name," ascended to the skies. A steady rain today marred the pleasure of the visiting Baptists, but the meetings were regularly held.

Congressional Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—In the senate today the conferees on the deficiency bill said they had agreed on all but one point—armor plate. The house wanted to increase the price, but the senate refused to yield. The subject is still open. After this report Senator Quay moved to adjourn till Monday, but the motion was lost. The senate then went into executive session. A further recess to Thursday's session was taken by the house at noon to await the final report with the conferees on the deficiency bill.

Dr. Corawall on Trial.

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—The preliminary hearing of Dr. Richmond Cornwall, charged with the murder of his brother, Herbert, July 7, began before Judge Murphy this morning. The state is making an effort to show it was murder in the first degree.

Secretary Johns of the Irrigation company returned this afternoon from his Rockport trip. He caught several monstrous largemouth bass which he will have stuffed and set up on exhibition in his office as the result of his piscatorial prowess.

Boys Killed by a Train.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 16.—Several boys who were stealing a ride on a freight train were put off near here early this morning and started to walk back. They sat down on the track to rest, fell asleep and were struck by another train. John Bridges, aged 15; Charles Sweeney, 13; and Lewis Montgomery, 13, were instantly killed; Henry Estill, aged 13, was badly injured. The boys live in Fort Worth. When the same train pulled into the yards L. Ecox, a negro, was run over and killed.

Was Blood Poisoned.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Joe Quinn, Baltimore's great utility base ball player, is confined at the Leland hotel with blood poisoning today. During a St. Louis game, Quinn, in sliding, injured his left leg and the dye from his sweater entered the wound. Physicians are hopeful of preventing the disease from spreading.

Railway Earnings.

BALTIMORE, July 16.—The statement of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad issued today shows a decrease in the earnings for June. The year's earnings however, are over $25,000,000 over last year's increase of $1,500,000 over last year.

In the Hands of the Jury.
